Jefferson, Teddy, Hoover, Pecora
OR Lenin?
SAYS "BILL-OF-RIGHTS" THOMAS JEFFERSON:
"No government ought to be without censors; and where the press is free none ever will be."

TEDEY SAYS:
"It is the press of the United States which keeps our democracy alive and vital."

HERBERT HOOVER:
"Absolute freedom of the press to discuss public questions is a foundation stone of American liberty."

JUSTICE FERDINAND PECORA:
"But no abuse of that freedom can be comparable, as a public evil, to its denial."

NOW COMES NIKOLAI LENIN:
"Why should freedom of speech and freedom of the press be allowed? Why should a government which is doing what it believes to be right allow itself to be criticized? It would not allow opposition by legal weapons.
Ideas are much more fatal things than guns. Why should any man be allowed to buy a printing press and desecrate desecrate pernicious opinions calculated to embarrass the government?"

Approximately a dozen local business men and city leaders have studied the Behrhorst proposal and have pledged support and financial participation to the extent that building and operating the cemetery will be the hands of a local Board of Directors.

names in this article, much. The young tads and mothers enjoyed the trip, it's reported since the men folk cleared and cooked the fish.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch, Commander Avenue Bass as the Helmsman, pulled out to Boka, Fla. There in the tropical waters they claim to have caught more than 400 fish and 100 crabs. They're looking for fillets to prove it!

No one seems to know what the fish are, but the fish from the other division. It therefore appears that the second division won the bet. The ladies did all the cooking.

If you don't believe this, ask Chief Goodlett. (He'll throw you in jail!) As far as the chamber of commerce is concerned, I. L. says he doubts it's all about the fish. He "ain't seen none."

Jewish Holiday Of Sukkos Observed

The Jewish holiday of Sukkos, or Tabernacles, which dates back to Biblical days, began Sunday, September 28 and is concluded with "Simchas Torah" Tuesday, Oct. 7. Originally associated with the sukkas, or booths, in which the ancient Israelites camped during their wandering through the desert, the holiday later became an expression of gratitude to the Lord for the harvest. Sukkos is the model which the pilgrims used in their construction of the Tabernacle in the wilderness. In modern times, Sukkos is celebrated as a festival of prayer and thanksgiving. In homes and synagogues, temples, which are decorated with autumn fruits and flowers, worship takes place. In many temples the first day of Sukkos is devoted to a service of consecration for youngsters who are beginning their religious training. The last day of Sukkos is called Simchas Torah, the day of rejoicing over the Torah. During that portion of the temple service when the scroll of the five books of Moses is read, the final section is reached on Sukkos festival in its Sukkos. The ceremony is immediately read. This ceremony signifies the continuing validity of the word of God.

Temple Beth Shalom held a Sukkos festival in its Sukkos built for the occasion. Games were played by the children with refreshments served after the festivities.

Rams Bow In Conference Tilt Bid As Trojans Pass And Run To Win

Belle Glade High's Golden Rams dropped their first conference football contest to the Lake Worth Trojans 26-13 last Friday as the Trojans forward wall and good defensive play prevented Ram backs from pulling away for any substantial gain.

The Trojans, playing on their home field, had a whitewash going until late in the last quarter when a drive from the Lake Worth 48 yard line resulted in a score when John Chambliss plowed over from the one.

On the following kickoff the Rams retained possession with outside kick at the Lake Worth 41. Skipper Poole skirted end for seven yards.

On the next play—was it a fumble or a center-kick—Jerry Edwards, Ram center, retained control of the ball and went all the way. The Rams kicked a placement for the extra point. Tim Shiffert was the big gun for Lake Worth as he scored three touchdowns. He scored half way through the first quarter after a 58-yard drive.

In the second quarter Lake Worth marched 61 yards to put Shiffert in pay dirt and later in the same period a 54-yard push saw Drawdy across the goal.

Early in the third stanza Shiffert gobbled a three-yard toss from Terry Cox at the end of a 50-yard drive to score again. Belle Glade visits Stuart Friday night in an attempt to improve the 1-1 season record.

The Power to Ask Protects Your Right to Know

Every day some policy-makers in government, or leaders in other walks of life, make decisions which vitally affect your future and that of your family.

In many countries of the world you would be forced to follow these dictums blindly, unable to ask why, or in many cases unable even to know that they had been made.

In America, everyone with public responsibility knows he must be prepared to answer for his actions.

He knows that your representative—the skilled reporter of the daily newspaper—will appear, pencil in hand, to ask pertinent questions that he had better be prepared to answer.

Every day your newspaper, through its reporters and wire services, covers a multitude of newsworthy probing for answers to the whys and wherefores of actions that affect your job, your home, your family and your safety.

The answers published in your newspaper are not fleeting messages, but are an indelible record that give you and your neighbors the basis for discussion and for rendering the ultimate decision on unpopular and unjust actions.

Thus your daily newspaper is an extension of your power to ask questions about policies that affect you. The answers furnish you the basis for constructive action based on an informed judgment. The newspaper is a guardian of your freedom.
